

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Aug. 17, 2016

Jaclyn Y. Garver
Media Relations and Communications
260-480-4120
jgarver2@ivytech.edu

Contact:
Aja Michael-Keller
Director, Events, Enrichment, and Conferencing
260-480-4150
amichael8@ivytech.edu

Ivy Tech Northeast to offer IvyLiving community classes

Beginning fall 2016, Ivy Tech Community College Northeast will offer IvyLiving classes, non-credit enrichment classes geared toward the community. The first IvyLiving course will be Homebrewing 101.

To determine which classes to offer, Aja Michael-Keller, the College's director of Events, Enrichment, and Conferencing, reviewed similar programs in the region and found areas that could be expanded upon.

"As the number of small and independent craft brewers increases across the country, more and more people are becoming interested in homebrewing," Michael-Keller says. "IvyLiving is a great way to learn the craft from an expert in the field, and we even provide all your materials."

Homebrewing 101 will meet from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sept. 24 and Oct. 8 at the CookSpring Shared Kitchen at The Summit, 1025 W. Rudisill Blvd. To learn more and sign up for classes, visit IvyTech.edu/northeast/living.

The second IvyLiving class, to be offered in October, will be Artistic Welding. Registration is not yet open.

Ivy Tech Community College is the state's largest public postsecondary institution and the nation's largest singly accredited statewide community college system. Ivy Tech has campuses throughout Indiana. It serves as the state's engine of workforce development, offering affordable degree programs and training that are aligned with the needs of its community along with courses and programs that transfer to other colleges and universities in Indiana. It is accredited by the Higher Learning Commission and a member of the North Central Association.

###

Attached: PDF of release